EXPERIENCE

Regina Johnson has been working for Colliers International since 1997. In the Pleasanton office, she manages daily operations, performs marketing services, and runs the charitable project of Colliers International, the Links For Life Foundation, benefitting local youth. In addition, Regina has served on an advisory group as a Regional Director of Operations for the Parrish group of offices.

Regina brings a blend of creative talent, dedicated service and sound leadership to Colliers International. Graduating with honors from University of California at Davis in Environmental Design, Regina began her career as a Production Artist then Display Manager for the original Nut Tree in Vacaville, California. When she married and began raising her family she was successful as a freelance graphic designer. Regina and her family relocated to Pleasanton, and she joined Colliers International as their Graphic Designer. Regina credits her second-to-none support staff, invested Managing Director, and their highly talented brokers for the success of the Pleasanton Office and believes her creativity is her best asset.

Regina resides in Pleasanton, with her husband of 25 years and dog Charger and has two children attending college.
